CONSTRUCTION

Construction projects in today’s highly competitive market require proficient leadership, practical experience and innovative management to overcome the complexity of the building process and demands of the awarding authority. Thin margins, tight schedules, changing technology, rigorous safety regulations, and a highly competitive marketplace - these are the key driving forces in the Construction Industry today.

PERSPECTIVE is keenly conscious of how these issues are affecting hiring decisions as contractors build their organizations. We serve our clients and their needs: locally, regionally, nationally and internationally, with constructors and sub constructors. Placing Board Directors, Chairmen, Head of Country Offices, Sr. Project Managers, CFOs and the senior officers who report to them is our commitment. In addition, we find outside corporate directors and contract executives for consulting or interim assignments anywhere in the world including the new regions of building boom such as Arabia, India and China.
